The game

Short description

Make the words. Max the score. WordMaxed is a word strategy game from Flexibendi LLC. Arrange letters across a growing board, connect words, and turn careful placement into bigger scores.

How it plays

Each turn asks you to think beyond the next word. A placement can connect with letters already on the board, creating several scoring opportunities at once. As open spaces disappear, the shape of the board becomes part of the challenge.

New multipliers. New possibilities. Plan around bonuses and special tiles.

New letters. At a price. Swap letters to change your options.

Room for four. Who'll score more? Bring your word strategy to multiplayer.

The Stand-In. Any letter you choose. Choose the letter your Stand-In tile becomes.

Coverage angles

- The strategy behind a single move: show how one placement changes the value of surrounding letters.
- A puzzle you build as you play: examine how early decisions shape the spaces left for later turns.
- Daily score chasing: compare approaches to a shared challenge and explain the decisions behind a strong run.

WordMaxed brings board building strategy to word puzzles

Make the words. Max the score. Flexibendi LLC invites players to explore a word puzzle where the position of each letter can matter as much as the word itself.

WordMaxed is available on iPhone, iPad, and Android, with browser play accessible through the Flexibendi website. A Windows and macOS version is listed on Steam with a planned Q4 2026 release.

Players place letters into a growing board, setting up intersecting words and future scoring opportunities. Bonuses and special tiles create additional decisions as the grid fills, while a shared Daily Challenge offers a reason to return and compare scores.

The accompanying media package includes product artwork, a transparent logo, three gameplay stills, and a 51-second gameplay trailer. The footage shows four short-word turns followed by a larger seven-tile move, making it useful for explaining how the board develops.
